

AMERICAN ADDICTION

> Rob's backyard offers up a wide variety of different collector cars ready for restoration. The number of Chevy muscle cars is overwhelming.

> Here are some more backyard finds. Most of the Camaros are Z/28s.

> Rare midyear Corvettes are a specialty of the collection. A number have received Top Flite awards from the prestigious Bloomington Corvette Show.

> There are more than 30 Chevilles currently on the property surrounded by an assortment of '55s, Novas, and Camaros.

> This '66 GTO and a '67 Chevelle (with a 572-cid GM crate engine) were traded for a '65 Corvette 396/425hp coupe. Note the '62 409/409 Impala and '57 Chevrolet two-door post in the background.

> This is just a sample of some of the parts taken from cars over the years that will be used for future restorations.

> Each barn holds a different treasure. This unit included this '58 Corvette and a '69 Super Sport Camaro.

"I have a lot of projects going on at the same time ... but when I take a car apart, I know where all the parts are and how it goes back together."—Rob Carter

> These rare aluminum intake manifolds are highly prized by collectors.

> These are rare 427 blocks ready for restoration. Rob has the cars that go with them.
